Old Business

- There is no new information on our survey contract.
- Rebecca Waugh is working on a grant to create a revised preservation plan. We are ready for a new plan perhaps modeled after the Louisville plan. Cost of such a plan may be up to 20,000 and might not require matching funds.
- Jackie Connor and Dave Snow reported on the CLG training in Loveland June 29. Megan Brown of the National Parks Service discussed national priorities in historic preservation. Other highlights:
  - Longmont is surveying their downtown.
  - Lafayette is working on education and making small grants available to property owners.
  - Greeley has received a national award for their efforts.
  - Boulder is adding new Commission members, sponsoring field trips, community development and block grants. have also been recognized for their efforts. Boulder Historic district is on the National Register and they are investigating "thematic" landmarking.
- Annual Report is done and has been sent to the state.
- Scofield Farm is already eligible for landmarking as a result of Boulder County survey.

- Rebecca Waugh presented “National Register of Historic Places Owner Information”. Town could use Register information to open door for grants. Full information of the national program can be found at http://www.nps.gov/nr/national\_register\_fundamentals.htm
- By-Law revision discussion has been postponed.

New Business

- Ron Sladek of Tatanka Historical Associates was invited to discuss the preservation of the Sandstone Pillars at Highway 287 and Arapahoe. The pillars were built to commemorate the veterans of WWI and marked the beginning of the “Road of Remembrance”. Since we are approaching the 10th anniversary of American involvement in WWI this is a particularly appropriate to investigate the preservation of these monuments. Mr. Sladek suggested we contact the State office of Archaeology to make an assessment of the structures and Boulder County office of Historical Preservation. He also expressed his willingness to contribute to this process.
- Dave Snow has researched potential Landmark plaques that we might use for identifying our landmarked historic properties.
- Erie’s annual Biscuit day will be held September 19th from 8-12 in downtown Erie. EHAB plans to have a booth next to the historical society.
- A planning retreat will be held on September 12 at the Recreation Center.

Our next meeting will be held September 28th

Meeting adjourned at 8:12

Where to Start

Results & Owner Information Listing & Ownership

Where to Start (How to list a property)

The National Register nomination process usually starts with your State Historic Preservation Office* (SHPO). Contact your SHPO or check their web page for National Register information, research materials, and necessary forms to begin the nomination process. If the property is on federal or tribal land, then the process starts with the Federal Preservation Office or Tribal Preservation Office. (More on FPO and TPOs.)

How are Properties Evaluated?

To be considered eligible, a property must meet the National Register Criteria for Evaluation. This involves examining the property's age, integrity, and significance.

- Age and Integrity. Is the property old enough to be considered historic (generally at least 50 years old) and does it still look much the way it did in the past?
- Significance. Is the property associated with events, activities, or developments that were important in the past? With the lives of people who were important in the past? With significant architectural history, landscape history, or engineering achievements? Does it have the potential to yield information through archeological investigation about our past?

National Register Listing Process

- Nominations can be submitted to your SHPO from property owners, historical societies, preservation organizations, governmental agencies, and other individuals or groups. Official National Register Nomination Forms are downloadable or from your State Historic Preservation Office. National Register Bulletins can also provide guidance on how to document and evaluate certain types of properties. Sample Nominations provide additional useful information.
- The SHPO notifies affected property owners and local governments and solicits public comment. If the owner (or a majority of owners for a district nomination) objects, the property cannot be listed but may be forwarded to the National Park Service for a Determination of Eligibility (DOE).
- Proposed nominations are reviewed by your state's historic preservation office and the state's National Register Review Board. The length of the state process varies but will take a minimum of 90 days.
- Complete nominations, with certifying recommendations, are submitted by the state to the National Park Service in Washington, D.C. for final review and listing by the Keeper of the National Register of Historic Places. The National Park Service makes a listing decision within 45 days.

*Note: National Register nominations of Tribal properties start with the Tribal Historic Preservation Officer. National Register nominations of federal properties start with the agency's Federal Preservation Officer.

Results & Owner Information

Listing in the National Register of Historic Places provides formal recognition of a property's historical, architectural, or archeological significance based on national standards used by every state. Results include:

- Becoming part of the National Register Archives, a public, searchable database that provides a wealth of research information.
- Encouraging preservation of historic resources by documenting a property's historic significance.
- Providing opportunities for specific preservation incentives, such as:
  - > Federal preservation grants for planning and rehabilitation
  - > Federal investment tax credits
  - > Preservation easements to nonprofit organizations
  - > International Building Code fire and life safety code alternatives
- Possible State tax benefit and grant opportunities. Check with your State Historic Preservation Office for historic property incentives available within your state.
- Involvement from the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation when a Federal agency project may affect historic property.
- Find out information on the care and maintenance of your historic property through various NPS Preservation Briefs and Tech Notes.
- Network with other historic property owners, tour historic areas, or chat with preservationists through Conferences, Workshops, and Preservation Organizations.
- Celebrate your listing by ordering a bronze plaque that distinguishes your property as listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

Listing and Ownership

- National Register listing places no obligations on private property owners. There are no restrictions on the use, treatment, transfer, or disposition of private property.
- National Register listing does not lead to public acquisition or require public access.
- A property will not be listed if, for individual properties, the owner objects, or for districts, a majority of property owners object.

- National Register listing does not automatically invoke local historic district zoning or local landmark designation.
- Federal Regulation 36 CFR 60 authorizes the National Register of Historic Places.
- Contact your State Historic Preservation Office (SHPO) for any specific state rules or regulations

Federal Agency Historic Preservation

In conjunction with the Secretary of the Interior, all Federal agencies establish their own historic preservation programs for the identification, evaluation, and protection of historic properties as mandated in Section 110 of the National Historic Preservation Act. These individual agency programs vary greatly in scope, depending on the degree to which the agency owns, controls, or affects historic properties. The NPS Federal Agency Preservation Assistance Program carries out a number of activities to assist Federal agencies in meeting their historic preservation responsibilities. Check with the Federal Preservation Officer (FPO) within a particular federal agency for additional information.
